INTRODUCTION

The main processing plant of MFF is located at Khurja (U.P), India. It commenced its commercial production and export of frozen boneless Halal Meat during 1986.

Like any other processed food industry, meat processing has rapidly changed into a highly organised sector in India and due to the awareness and implementation of stringent quality norms and provisions of well equipped facilities for quality checks, all our products strictly confirm to international standards with an assurance of the highest degree of hygiene, sanitation and phyto sanitary requirements.

A team of highly qualified, experienced and dedicated experts, engineers and veterinary doctors are engaged to maintain high values of meat and meat products as per the requirement of the international trade. This team is fully committed to produce superior quality, safe and hygienic meat to achieve the highest level of customer satisfaction. MFF ensures that all the meat products are fit for human consumption and free from all parasitic infections and pathogenic micro-organisms. It also confirms to bacteriological quality specifications with regard to total bacterial count, E. Coli and being totally free from salmonella.

The raw material for MFF comes from naturally fed, disease free animals reared specially for the meat plant, using modern animal husbandry practices and no steroids, antibiotics or chemicals are used. The animal cannot see other animals being slaughtered and with the middle-east being the traditional market for our exports, slaughtering, is done strictly according to the Islamic Shariyath " Halal" method. After slaughtering, the carcasses are kept in chillers at 2-4 degree to attain pH below 6. The chilled carcasses having pH of less than 6 are deboned and deglanded in temperature controlled hall by experienced and trained butchers observing all the basic practices of meat hygiene.

The well trimmed cuts are weighed and packed in food grade polybags. These packets are frozen at -35 degree in blast freezers and plate freezers as per the requirement of the various cuts and then transferred into three ply printed corrugated boxes having a high molecular inner sheet to prevent temperature losses during storage and transit. These boxes are then shrink wrapped to provide a suitable barrier for water vapour transmission with guaranteed shelf life of twelve months if kept frozen at -20 degree.

Medina Frozen Foods are in great demand in South-East Asia, CIS countries and the Middle East.

QUALITY ASSURANCE

The quality and safety are assured by monitoring the Critical Control Points (CCPs) of HACCP and ISO: 9001, 22,000. The in-house laboratory conducts at random the microbial examination of samples of meat, water, air, personal swabs from the worker's hands, etc., so as to keep tabs on the hygienic environment and personal hygiene.

After the clearances from the in-house laboratory, the cartons with frozen meat are loaded in the refrigerator containers having -180C to -200C, sealed and transported to the seaports for transmission to the importing countries. In the production process cold chain is maintained since the carcasses are chilled to the end uses namely, processing plants/individual consumers.

QUALITY MANAGEMENT

Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) has been providing guidance to the Indian food industry by formulating the national standards and certification systems. The FSSAI is operating Quality Management System Certification Scheme (QMSCS) according to IS/ISO 9001:2000. All meat exporting plants have ISO 9001-2000 or 22,000 certification

QUALITY CONTROL LABORATORIES

The plant has an in-house microbiological laboratory. Before a consignment is shipped, random meat samples are taken and analyzed for Salmonella, E-coli, Listeria and Coliform bacteria. Each batch has to conform to the international animal
